In this general work the Education Department and the Labour Bureau co-operated with the Premier and the Committee. No reference to the Department or Minister of Agriculture would be complete without some review of operations at the splendid Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Its War-work during these years was two-fold. It contributed to the man-power of the nation through voluntary enlistments, and it helped the Department in stimulating the productive power of the Province. Immediately after the outbreak of hostilities in 1914 an Officers Training Corps was organized among the students of the College and from that time on military drill in various forms was part of the regular work of the students in attendance. The result was that the Ontario Agricultural College became a strong recruiting centre and large numbers were drawn from its student body, as well as a number from the staff, to serve as officers and as privates in all branches of the active service. This influence extended also among ex-students, and over five hundred students and ex-students responded under the voluntary system, while a number of them paid the supreme penalty of patriotism. As to the other side of the work the entire staff of the College was in constant demand for the giving of information, offering of suggestions as to what crops to grow, the best varieties of seed, the best time of seeding, and all other points...
